

THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS.

Vol. LVIII.

JULY, A. D. 1893.

No. 7.

ABSTRACT OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS

AT ITS MEETING, TUESDAY, JUNE 13TH, 1893.

—THE following elected members were present: The Right Rev. Drs. Doane (Vice-President, in the chair), Littlejohn, Niles, Lyman, Dudley, Scarborough and Peterkin; the Rev. Drs. Hoffman, McVickar, Eccleston, Smith, Satterlee, Shipman, Huntington and Brown, the Rev. Mr. Brewster, the Rev. Drs. Vibbert, Anstice and Christian; and Messrs. Stark, Low, King, Mills, Cutting, Whitlock, Chauncey and Marvin. Of the ex-officio members the Right Rev. Dr. Kinsolving was in attendance.

—A communication was submitted from the Presiding Bishop conveying to the Board the report of the Bishop of Albany on the mission school in Athens, in pursuance of his appointment by the Board of Missions in Baltimore. This report was ordered to be published in THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS and appears on another page.

—Letters were received from seventeen of the Bishops having Domestic missionary work within their jurisdiction, with regard to the appropriations for the coming fiscal year and details with respect to the present fiscal year, concerning which suitable action was taken.

—Letters were received from the Right Rev. Drs. Ferguson and Holly and a number of the missionaries in Africa, China and Japan conveying information about the progress of the work in the several fields. Bishop Ferguson calls especial attention to a printed pamphlet entitled "France versus Liberia," portions of which have appeared in the public press in this country, and shows that if the claims of France to territory on the east side of the Cavalla river are finally maintained, it will involve the loss to us of ten missionary stations already in operation. He says that this pamphlet has been distributed widely in the hope that through sympathy for the Liberians a moral force may be brought to bear upon the French Government that may cause it to retract. By resolution the Secretary was requested to write to the Secretary of State of the United States on this subject on behalf of the Board. Lenten and Easter offerings were reported from St. Mark's Church, Harper, Cape Palmas, and Trinity Church, Monrovia, together with a contribution of $75, the second this year, from the first-mentioned congregation. On Easter Day forty-three were confirmed at St. Mark's, twenty-eight of whom were from the heathen villages in the neighborhood of Hoffman Station—all adults headed by the high priest of the tribe. Thirteen were baptized and 191 communed.

—The question of appropriations being under consideration, a report was submitted by the Advisory Committee, which was unanimously adopted by the Board and referred to the General Secretary for publication to the Church. This report is printed beyond.

—The appropriations for the fiscal year beginning September 1st, 1893, were made as follows:

For the Domestic work (including work among the Indians, all designated contributions to apply, $41,295; and for the work under the charge of the Commission on Work among the Colored People, $40,000, in addition to all contributions designated for that work) the sum of	- - - - -	$241,935 00
For Foreign Missions (including $4,162 for the support of disabled missionaries and the widows and orphans of missionaries) the sum of	-	170,486 39
And set apart for Central Expenses and for the cost of making the work known to the Church, the sum of	- - - - -	33,000 00

—A resolution was communicated by the secretary of the Commission on Work among the Colored People, adopted at a meeting held in Richmond, Virginia, June 6th, by which their present appropriations of $57,890 to the several dioceses had been renewed for the coming fiscal year. Of this amount the $40,000 mentioned above is to be taken from general funds; the remainder to be made up by specific offerings of the Church for the purpose.

—It is proposed, after the beginning of the next fiscal year, to print in detail, as usual, the scheme of appropriations to the several missionary jurisdictions and dioceses. Acting under the rule adopted in the before-mentioned report of the Advisory Committee, very urgent requests for necessary increase of the appropriations from a number of the Domestic Bishops had to be laid aside, and from the Foreign field a number of items in the estimates for required enlargement of the work could not be considered, while all requests for building purposes were temporarily declined. To cover all these needs not less than $25,000 or $30,000 additional would have to be appropriated and this statement takes no account of the many opportunities before the Church for aggressive work, touching which the respective Bishops have not specifically spoken at this time.

REPORT OF THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE CONCERNING THE ANNUAL APPROPRIATIONS.

No intelligent member of the Church should fail to read the following report of the Advisory Committee to the Board of Managers:

The Advisory Committee, in considering the question of what amount of money the Board will be justified in appropriating for the year beginning with September 1st, 1893, have had before them the rule submitted by the Board of Managers and approved as to the underlying general principles by the Board of Missions in Chicago in 1886, namely: That the basis of the annual appropriations shall be the receipts, exclusive of legacies, for the twelve months preceding June 1st. They find, however, that if the appropriations for the coming year should be limited to that basis it would necessitate a cutting down in both the Domestic and Foreign departments.

The receipts of the past twelve months, leaving out legacies, have been practically the same as they were the preceding twelve months. There has been no increase in receipts to correspond with the additions to the appropriations within the year, and hence there is no margin to justify the increase of appropriations demanded by the growth of the work during the year.

In view of these facts the only course seemingly open to the Committee is to recommend that the Board restore the appropriations to the limit of a year ago and do not advance them beyond that point until such time as increased contributions shall indicate that it is the wish of the Church, for which the Board acts.

The practical question, How shall the necessary reduction be applied? is attended with grave difficulties, owing to the fact that a large portion of the work is under contract, and that as to other portions the Board of Managers is simply carrying out the instructions of the Board of Missions. By the action of the last General Convention five new Domestic Missionary Bishops were elected, one of whom declined, leaving a vacancy. These, in addition to the Bishop elected for the Jurisdiction of The Platte in 1889, have required an absolute increase of an amount sufficient for the support of the Bishops and imply an annual expenditure of not less than $30,000 for the salaries of the Bishops and the reasonable support of the work in these jurisdictions. The salaries of all the Missionary Bishops are fixed and are not subject to abatement. The amount appropriated to work among Colored people is determined by resolution of the Board of Missions and therefore cannot be reduced. As to the work among the Indians, the greater part of it is under contract, and it is largely supported by specific offerings. Any reduction of the appropriation for Domestic Missions must, therefore, fall upon the missionaries other than Bishops, who are engaged in work among white people in the jurisdictions and dioceses which receive appropriations from the Board. The stipends paid to these missionaries are now quite inadequate, and it would be a grievous hardship to make them less, and manifestly unjust that these missionaries should be required to suffer the large pro rata reduction by reason of the necessary exemption of two-thirds of the total appropriation for Domestic Missions.

The Committee have not the heart, nor does it accord with their judgment or sense of justice, to recommend such a drastic measure.

In the Foreign field the natural growth of the work demands increased outlay, and to take away any portion of the money now appropriated would require the abandonment of work already begun with encouragement, and the crippling of the force which is now insufficient just at this time when the work is promising and calling for additional helpers and means. We do not know of any point at which greater economy of resources can be practised, nor do we see how reduction can be made without impairing contracts and causing serious hurt. The perplexities of the situation are extremely embarrassing because of the lack of means to meet the legitimate and necessary expenditures. It will be remembered that when in 1886 the Board of Managers, under financial stress, reduced the appropriations, the Board of Missions at its meeting in October following forthwith directed that they be restored. The responsibility therefore rests not on the Board of Managers, but on the Board of Missions and the General Convention, which have since added to the financial undertaking by instructions and by creating new missionary jurisdictions.

Under all the circumstances the Advisory Committee are constrained to advise the Board that reduction of the appropriations at the present time would be impracticable and would entail great harm to the work and hardship to those who are the Church's servants and pioneers in the missionary fields.

At the same time the Committee are sternly admonished that while necessity requires that the appropriations shall be maintained as at present, the condition of the treasury absolutely forbids increase at any point in either the Domestic or Foreign fields. The Committee is aware that even this measure of restraint will seem harsh to those who are pressed by the imperative necessity for increase.

The Committee have had before them applications for increased appropriations from several of the Bishops, some of which are of peculiar urgency, but they are with great reluctance forced to return them to the Board with the recommendation that their consideration be postponed until the autumn in the hope that the condition of the treasury may by that time justify a favorable reply, at least to such as are most necessitous. With the prospect of a large arrearage at the end of the fiscal year it is impossible to make a favorable recommendation at the present time.

The Committee find in the appropriations for Foreign Missions each year an item of $4,312 for the care of infirm and disabled missionaries and for the families of deceased missionaries, and they would suggest to the Board the inquiry whether that charge does not properly belong to the general fund which the Church has established for such cases. Is it right that, with a general fund existing for that express purpose, the Missionary Board should be taxed year after year by the withdrawal of so much money from its exacting needs?

The Advisory Committee are unanimous in the strong conviction that the heart and conscience of all our Church people should be reached and moved by the facts which they are forced to present. The contributions are wholly insufficient to support the general missionary work. For example, during the year which ended with August last, the contributions fell $82,000 below the expenditures, the amount being made up from unexpected and extraordinary sources. If the Church is to embrace the opportunities which are before it, much more money must be contributed. The alternative is to curtail the work, refuse the call of Divine Providence, and be content with a contracted and contracting sphere, instead of possessing an enlarged and enlarging domain. The General Convention by creating new missionary jurisdictions and sending forth new Bishops has given its emphatic voice in favor of enlargement, but something more is needful than to consecrate Bishops. They must also be maintained and have sufficient means with which to do the work to which they are sent, and to this end enlarged offerings are indispensable.

The Committee would urge that the older missionary jurisdictions make haste to relieve the treasury of the support of their Bishops by taking advantage of the encouragements that have been offered to them through the Board.

With regard to the new jurisdictions and such older ones as are not ready to assume the support of their Bishops, the Committee advise that steps be taken at once to provide for their support by enlarging the Missionary Bishops' Fund and thus leave the Board free to supply the support of missionaries to aid them, without imperilling or impairing the existing work whenever additional Bishops are appointed. A Churchwoman, whose gifts have been many, has recently given $3,000 for the support of one of the new Bishops, hoping to repeat the gift next year. Are there not others in the Church who will assume the amount of a Bishop's salary yearly or give a sum outright which will yield an income sufficient for the salary of a Bishop? If the same were done for all the Missionary Bishops it would clear the way for that advance which the General Convention had in view and which a growing and aggressive Church must expect to make.

The whole work makes an impressive and stirring appeal to the Church at this time by its needs and opportunities, and especially by the fact already mentioned that there is in prospect a deficiency of more than $50,000 in the treasury at the close of the year, August 31st, after all available resources shall have been applied, unless the receipts meanwhile prove to be larger than during previous summers.

The voice of the General Convention, which in its wisdom ordered the expansion of its missions, should be potent to move the members of the Church to contribute money enough to carry on the work.

THE LENTEN OFFERING.

THE Sunday-school Lenten offerings received up to June 23d from 2,400 Sunday-schools amounted to $71,668.27. On June 30th last year they had reached but $70,375. The returns this year, therefore, are a little ahead of last year, although it is to be remembered that Easter was two weeks earlier this year than last. The total received to September 1st last year was $74,428.

We hope the delayed offerings will carry the amount on September 1st beyond that figure. It is not $100,000 by any means, but there is good reason to be thankful that under all the circumstances the children have kept up to last year. We are confident that if we can have all working together another year the $100,000 mark can be reached. The children who have worked so earnestly deserve and they have our most hearty thanks.

A list of the Lenten offerings by dioceses and parishes has been published as a supplement to THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN SOLDIER for July 2d. This has also been sent to all the clergy. A list to September 1st will be printed hereafter. This will afford opportunity for any corrections that may be necessary. Our effort has been, however, to make the list now issued a perfect one. Such a list of contributions from the children of to-day bespeaks a lively interest in missions from the men and women of the next decades.

CONSECRATION OF MISSIONARY BISHOPS FOR JAPAN AND CHINA.

ON the morning of Wednesday, June 14th, in St. Thomas' Church, New York, the Rev. Dr. John Wesley Brown, rector, the Rev. Dr. John McKim and the Rev. Dr. Frederick Rogers Graves were consecrated, respectively, Missionary Bishops of Yeddo, Japan, and Shanghai, China. The Right Rev. Dr. Littlejohn, of Long Island, acted as consecrator, the Right Rev. Drs. Scarborough, of New Jersey, and Barry, of England, late Primate of Australia, having been appointed to assist him. The sermon was delivered by the Right Rev. Dr. Dudley, of Kentucky, from Acts xxi., 14-16: "And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done. And after those days we took up our carriages, and went up to Jerusalem. There went with us also certain of the disciples of Cæsarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge."

The consecration service was most interesting. The beginning of the Communion Office was said by the Right Rev. Dr. Barry, Bishop Scarborough reading the Epistle. At the conclusion of the sermon the Rev. Dr. McKim was presented for consecration by Bishop Coleman of Delaware and Bishop Kinsolving, Assistant Bishop of Texas, and the Rev. Dr. Graves by Bishop Dudley and Bishop Peterkin of West Virginia. The warrant to consecrate was read by Bishop Coleman, the certificates of election by the Rev. Joshua Kimber, Associate Secretary of the Board of Managers, and the evidence of consent to the consecrations by the Rev. Dr. Wm. S. Langford, General Secretary. The attending Presbyters in the case of Dr. McKim were the Rev. Dr. Langford and the Rev. J. Thompson Cole, and in the case of Dr. Graves were the Rev. Dr. M. Van Rensselaer and the Rev. F. L. H. Pott. The Litany was said by the Right Rev. Dr. Lyman, of North Carolina. The Bishops uniting with the consecrator in the laying on of hands were the Right Rev. Drs. Scarborough, Barry, Lyman, Dudley, Coleman, Peterkin, and Kinsolving.

Bishop McKim and Bishop Graves have had, very happily, a long and successful experience in the fields to which they have been consecrated. Their consecration gives great satisfaction to the missions in Japan and China and to the Church at home, and they should have and will doubtless receive cordial and constant support in their blessed work.

THE CHURCH BUILDING FUND.

THE treasurer reports that the last of the expenses incurred in the early days of the commission, when there was no income to meet them, have now been paid, and that there was a balance of $2,361 June 1st on hand available for donations to aid in church building in cases where the usual system of loans would not meet the exigency. The commission has now been at work twelve years, and the permanent fund is to-day intact, and not a dollar has been lost from any cause. Two hundred and twenty-three loans, amounting to $234,000, have been made, of which over $109,000 has been repaid. Since September 1st over $21,000 of loans has been returned, and has gone out again on new errands of usefulness. At the last meeting of the trustees a large number of loans were authorized, reaching from New York and Virginia in the East to Wyoming and Washington in the West, and one gift was voted to a mission station in Kansas.

The system of the commission is believed to be as nearly perfect as possible, and experience has verified this belief. In the beginning many persons were fearful that money loaned to aid in church building would not be returned, but the report of the treasurer is the most conclusive answer to this fear.

The only need is that of largely increased means to meet the constant applications from all parts of the country, and as the successful working of the system becomes known we may expect donations and bequests, until the full million dollars is obtained.

PRINCIPLES AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

At a conference on Foreign Missions held in the city of New York, January 12th, by invitation of the Presbyterian Board, at which this Society was represented, several topics were proposed for consideration. The results of the discussions were put in the form of a statement of principles and recommendations and adopted as the sense of the conference, namely :

- (1) The importance of the examples and deeds of the Apostles, who were divinely commissioned to plant the Christian Church in so many parts of the Roman Empire, is to be heartily recognized, and, so far as a change of circumstances will admit, the methods of evangelistic work in New Testament days are to be taken as instruction and guide to the missionary work of to-day.
- (2) The conference, recognizing the desire of some of the more able and promising native converts in many fields to visit America and enjoy the advantages of the schools and Christian life of this country, is at the same time agreed in the conviction, warranted by the expressed judgment of the missionaries on the field and the experience of past years, that native converts should be discouraged from coming to Europe and America for education; that the conference is unanimously of the opinion that such natives educated in America should not be commissioned on the ordinary missionary basis.
- (3) The conference desires to express its conviction of the importance of a careful and economical administration of missionary funds; and while satisfied that in no part of Church affairs is so great economy shown as in the collection and distribution of funds for Foreign missionary work, it would emphasize the importance of still further effort being made to perfect and simplify the financial business of these Boards. To this end it adopts the following resolution :

That the conference urge upon the Boards of Foreign Missions the careful consideration of plans for analyzing appropriations and expenditures, with a view to securing, if possible, some uniformity in this respect which will make the study of different forms of work more practical.

(4) The conference deeply feels the importance of developing spiritual power and stimulating missionary effort in the native churches, and desires to express its unanimous and emphatic conviction that this interest rightly takes the first place in the thought both of missionary boards at home and of missionary laborers in the field. It would call the especial attention of missionary laborers to the importance of this part of their work, and would urge, as an indispensable condition to success in this effort, a deepened tone of personal Christian life.

(5) The conference is agreed that the direct preaching of the Gospel should have precedence in all missionary effort. Other forms of work—educational, literary, and medical—are important, but they should be subsidiary to the prime matter of giving the Gospel for the salvation and edification of the people.

(6) In awakening the churches on the subject of the world's evangelization, the main instrumentality is a faithful ministry giving regular instruction on the essential obligation of giving the Gospel to mankind and the progress of mission work. The success of all other agencies will largely depend on the enthusiasm of pastors in preaching the gospel of missions.

(7) The conference heartily rejoices in the growing interest of the young people of our churches in this great work of evangelizing the world, and recognizes in these youth the promise and strength of the Church of the future. It earnestly recommends that in every possible way this interest be so recognized and guided as to secure both an increasing number of volunteers for the Foreign field and enlarged gifts to our mission treasuries, and the enthusiastic devotion of our youth to this supreme movement of the age.

BRIEF MENTION.

THE Missionary Council will meet in San Francisco on Sunday, October 22d. Arrangements are in progress, and announcements concerning railway fares will be published as soon as they are complete.

THE second number of the QUARTERLY MESSAGE will appear early in July, and we desire that it may have a very large circulation. Copies may be ordered at the rate of one dollar per hundred. Yearly subscription in packages of ten or more, at four cents a copy per annum.

BISHOP HARE writing on June 8th, on the cars, says: "I am just back from a series of journeys among the Indians. I have been for four weeks travelling in a wagon at the average rate of thirty miles a day and holding each day an early morning and an evening service. It has all been full of encouragement. I ordained an Indian a Deacon, William Holmes, who has been preparing for eight years, and have placed him in charge of Emmanuel Church, Cheyenne reservation, which was made vacant by the death of the Rev. George Paypay. I have also appointed Herbert Welsh an Indian catechist. He has been at school at Birch Cooley Farm School, Minnesota. He is to be at Grand River stations. The needs of my field are most pressing, but I feel that the Board is much besieged, little helped, and little thanked, and I forbear; only hoping that no curtailment may be necessary and that some helpful words may come to me regarding the Indian boarding-school work."

WE regret to learn that in the great fire which destroyed the city of Fargo, North Dakota, Bishop Walker lost his valuable library and his personal belongings. The calamity was widespread, but although individuals suffer, no doubt the city itself will revive and be rebuilt in a more substantial manner than before.

A DESCRIPTION of this month's frontispiece and of the Ladies' Institute, in Japan, to which it refers, may be found in the department of The Woman's Auxiliary of this number of the magazine.

THE BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER.

THE Book of Common Prayer, not an utterance of our devotions merely, but the moulding power of our characters and lives, is the noblest possible expression of the religion of Jesus Christ. It stands beside the Holy Scriptures in the Authorized Version, resonant with the same stirring "English undefiled" that marks the vast superiority of the King James Bible over all other efforts at translation. It holds up before all men in its creeds, its catechism, and its sacramental offices, the roundness and completeness of the Catholic Faith. It is almost like a great cathedral echoing with the songs of centuries. The old Psalter that made up the worship in which the Blessed Lord united with the Church of the older dispensation; the hymn, perhaps at least, of Ambrose, which we call Te Deum; the inspired songs which broke from the full heart of the blessed mother of the Son of God and of the father of His forerunner; the prayers of the "golden-mouthed" Bishop, and the thrice holy hymn of the angels—these make it almost true to say that it is a temple, richly decked with the carvings in stone, and the figures radiant with sunlight through the windows, of martyrs, and Prophets, and Apostles, and angels, and the saints of the Holy Church throughout all the world. It finds its way, by frequent and familiar use, into the heart and conscience of the child; and as its "heavenly notes" fix their sweet harmonies upon the memory of childhood, they make the indelible impression of their truth upon the whole life afterwards. It is the password of that fellowship among English-speaking people which makes us akin with all the wide-spread families of this great conquering race, and at home everywhere in the old fatherland across the sea, and in the new lands which own the sovereignty of England or the sweep of our American civilization. It is the silent preacher, the silent teacher—sent of God, as we believe—in the copies multiplied by millions through the restless energy of the press, thick as the leaves of Vallombrosa. It gathers and keeps all sacred memories of separate souls. It is the heritage and heirloom of an ancestry which carries us back to the upper room in Jerusalem, and to the underground churches where the dead slept, while the living sang hymns of victory over death. And it lifts us up and links us in with the worded glory, the articulate praise of the worship of the Paradise of God.

"Surely, it is in the hearts and minds of all to thank God for the inestimable privilege of a share in the perfecting, possession, and preservation of that which so 'procures reverence in the worship of God,' and 'promulgates the truths of the Gospel to mankind in the clearest, plainest, most affecting and majestic manner,' to the glory of God through Jesus Christ our Lord."—Bishop W. C. Doane.

AT FOUR DIOCESAN CONVENTIONS.

SATURDAY, April 29th, I left New York to be present at the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of South Carolina and to spend Sunday in Alexandria, Virginia. I had hoped to have an hour or two Saturday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of the Diocese of Delaware, at Wilmington, but the time appointed for the Woman's Auxiliary in Alexandria deprived me of the pleasure of speaking to the children of Delaware. Miss Stuart, the president of the auxiliary of Virginia, had made a full programme for me in Alexandria. Saturday afternoon I spoke to a local meeting of the auxiliary and Sunday morning preached in the historic Christ Church, the parish church of Washington and Robert E. Lee.

Sunday afternoon the Sunday-schools assembled in St. Paul's Church for me to address them, and in the evening again, at Christ Church, I preached to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. At all these services there were large congregations, a goodly number of seminary students coming over to the evening service.

I carried away with me on Monday morning most pleasant memories of a delightful but too brief stay with my hosts, and on Tuesday morning reached the city of Charleston, where was to be held the first annual meeting of the auxiliary of South Carolina in connection with the diocesan convention, which was to assemble on the morrow. Tuesday noon I preached in the ancient St. Michael's Church the annual sermon before the auxiliary. The business meeting was held during the afternoon in South Carolina Hall, and at five o'clock there was a public missionary meeting over which I presided. After a most practical address by the Rev. A. E. Cornish on Diocesan Missions, the Rev. J. T. Cole, of Japan, who had come from Washington for the purpose, spoke of the Church's work in Japan, and Miss Emery, whose presence at the meetings throughout the day was the event of chief interest to the auxiliary, was eagerly listened to as the last speaker. The women separated with mutual congratulations over the grand success of this their first diocesan meeting.

Wednesday morning the diocesan convention met in Grace Church. The election of a Bishop to assist Bishop Howe was uppermost in the minds of clergy and laity. The Bishop, who was too feeble to be in attendance upon the convention, was tenderly remembered in sermon and prayers. On the second day, without previous nomination, the convention by a single ballot chose the Rev. Dr. Ellison Capers Bishop-Coadjutor. This visit was my first sight of Charleston, and I would gladly have tarried to enjoy its generous hospitality and see more of the objects of interest than it was possible to see in two busy days.

Thursday and Friday, May 18th and 19th, I was in attendance upon the council of the Diocese of Virginia at Winchester, the scene of so much that was stirring but sad, heroic yet sorrowful, during the war. A Virginia council is a sort of love feast—a family gathering from all parts of the Old Dominion, continuing through a week worshipping and conferring together. This being the first meeting of council since the division of the diocese many familiar faces were missing, but, though it did not seem quite like old times, it was good to be there. The erect form of the Bishop, who, though he was in feeble health, did not flinch or spare himself, was the centre of the family group, and his steady hand guided the council. Thursday afternoon was appointed for the auxiliary, but the council gave place to the auxiliary for a missionary meeting in the evening, and the church was filled with a most attentive congregation. Professor Kinloch Nelson gave a graphic address on missions in Brazil, followed by the Rev. F. L. H. Pott in fine form on his work at St. John's College, Shanghai, after which I spoke especially of the Auxiliary. It was an arousing meeting, pretty long but not a bit wearisome. Before leaving Winchester I visited the God's acre and read the tributes on the various state monuments to the fallen in the great strife. They were tender memorials of the lost cause and of brave sons of the South.

Monday, May 29th, I spoke at the Convocation of Albany at Little Falls, New York, following Canon Stewart, the general missionary, who showed how much can be done by the travelling missionary toward reviving feeble missions and ministering to many who are beyond parochial reach.

Sunday, June 4th, I was the guest of Bishop Gillespie in Grand Rapids, Western Michigan, preaching in the morning at the mother church, St. Mark's, in the evening at Trinity, and addressing the children of all the Sunday-schools in Grace Church in the afternoon. Monday morning the Bishop took me into the diocesan library in the basement of his house, where everything is in order to be transferred to a proper depository as soon as he has means in hand to erect a library building on the rear of the lot of the episcopal residence. St. Mark's Hospital, a fine structure, with a nurse's house adjoining, is a well ordered institution. The operating-room is a model. It is a beautiful charity, but too costly to be the care of a parish.

Monday evening I preached in the church at Grand Haven, and Tuesday morning spoke to the young ladies of the diocesan school. The name of this school is Akerly Institute after Mr. Akerly, a Presbyterian, who in memory of his daughter gave his spacious house and grounds to the Bishop for this purpose. A new edifice of brick and stone has been completed recently. The institute, which has room for seventy students, is dear to the Bishop as the apple of his eye, and under the guidance of the Rev. Dr. Wilkinson and his wife is doing good work.

From Grand Haven to Muskegon, by Lake Michigan, is an hour's sail. The entrance from the great lake into Lake Muskegon reveals a lovely view. The parish at Muskegon is completing a new church parish-house and rectory connected by cloisters on a corner of the public square, at a cost of $55,000. It is the most beautiful group of buildings that I have seen anywhere for the money outlay. Workmen were putting on finishing touches to have the church ready for the diocesan convention, which was to meet early Wednesday morning. The delegates assembled Tuesday evening for the opening, which was a missionary service. The Bishop gave me the honor of preaching, and an offering was taken for Domestic and Foreign Missions. The Bishop took occasion to make public mention of the assistance his diocese has received through a series of years by appropriation from the General Board and to urge all the parishes and missions to take offerings for Domestic and Foreign Missions. No congregation in the Diocese of Western Michigan stands well if it does not every year take such offerings, and the Bishop himself keeps the tally and reminds the clergy by pastoral letter as well as by appointing diocesan secretaries to look after each department. The Church in Western Michigan has had up-hill work, but it shows the effect of thorough administration, and every dollar of missionary aid is laid out to the best advantage.

Wednesday, June 7th, was taken up with a ride by slow train to Detroit, which I reached in time to attend the evening session of the convention of Michigan. The topic was Diocesan Missions, not forgetting the northern peninsula, now a separate missionary jurisdiction, which was generously treated by the mother diocese. Bishop Davies, with a hearty welcome, gave me a first-rate chance to address the large congregation of wide-awake Church people. Seven years ago the convention of Michigan at a single stroke assumed the whole support of its missions, relinquishing $2,000 per annum, which it was receiving from the General Board. The vigor of this diocese is due in large part to the active interest of a body of devoted laymen, who through many years have given their best services to the Church. Among them stood Ex-Governor Baldwin for half a century.

Friday morning, on my return to New York, the various committees on Foreign Missions met in the Mission Rooms in anticipation of the June meeting of the Board, when appropriations were to be made for the new year. Plans were in progress for the consecration of the Bishops for China and Japan, in St. Thomas' Church, on Wednesday, June 14th.

My journeyings had taken me South, East and North-west over a land beautiful in the green of spring and early summer. The glory of God shone all around over hills and valleys, on skies, waters, woods and fields. Everywhere I found the same warm hearts and the same spirit of love pervading the body, reminding me of the words of the Apostle, "as there are many members in one body and all members have not the same office, so we being many are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another." The work is one in the Foreign and in the Home fields, and it is only needful that we all be enlarged in our sympathies and efforts, realizing our oneness and doing the work with all our might, assured that God will give the increase.

WM. S. LANGFORD,
General Secretary.

THE CHURCH IN THE NEW WEST.

It is a significant fact that the annual Missionary Council of the Church has been appointed to meet this year in San Francisco. We trust that despite the great distance the attendance will be large and thoroughly representative. The reduced rates of railway travel which will obtain this fall, should remove the chief objection which threatens its entire success.

Much benefit every way to the cause of Church extension ought to result from this more definite and personal acquaintance thus given on the part of the East with the New West and its opportunities.

We use the term New West as applicable to that very large and growing section west of the Mississippi, and especially the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast region; and we say without hesitation that this section of country presents to-day the most inviting field for missionary endeavor, and for a wise and aggressive missionary statesmanship.

When the Middle West and the vast Mississippi valley was first occupied, years and years were permitted to pass without giving those new states and territories, destined to grow with such amazing rapidity, efficient episcopal supervision and care. This, perhaps, was not so much our fault as our misfortune. For at that time, even in the Atlantic states, we were a feeble folk and barely able to maintain an existence at home. But whatever the cause, the effect has been simply lamentable, and it will take a quarter of a century to gain the ground and prestige thus forfeited. Other religious bodies, to their credit be it said, preoccupied the ground, won the hearts of the people and did the work which we failed to do. We witness to-day the result in the comparative weakness of the Church in that great and populous section.

Now are we going to repeat this experience in the New West? We cannot believe it. For in the first place we have now what we did not have then—the money and the men to occupy the land. In the second place for twenty-five years and more we have had our Bishops on the frontier and their presence and their work have counted for much. There has been no better illustration of the power of the Apostolic office than the work accomplished by the early pioneer Missionary Bishops who came out here a quarter of a century ago. The country was sparsely settled. Often from the beginning of the year to its close the only missionary to many a distant mining camp and ranch town was the Bishop. His band of clergy was very small. In himself was represented the entire Church machinery and organization. But the great advantage has been that whereas in the Middle West we were the last on the ground, in the New West we have been among the very first.

All that is needed now is that a policy so primitive, Apostolic and aggressive should be sustained by a wise and liberal support by the general Church. Now is the critical opportunity to lay the imprint of the Church's life and worship on this new civilization. Every dollar now invested in the establishment of Christian schools and supplying the blessings of the Gospel will bring forth an abundant harvest in the years to come.—Wyoming and Idaho Mission.

DREAMS AND REALITIES IN CHURCH GROWTH.

IN the years succeeding the Revolution the prospects of our branch of the Church were gloomy in the extreme. Bishop Provoost, the first Bishop of New York, thought that upon the death of the few families who were attached to it in his day the Church would perish out of the land. But although the Church's development was retarded, its growth during the past sixty years has been continuous. The ratio of communicants to the population in each decade since 1830, as shown by the statistics, is as follows: 1830, 1 communicant to 416 population; 1840, 1-308; 1850, 1-292; 1860, 1-214; 1870, 1-175; 1880, 1-151; 1890, 1-123. In the year 1850, when the population of the country was 23,196,876, the whole number of communicants was but 79,987. Last year in New York State alone, with a population of 6,000,000, the number of communicants was 131,251, or in a ratio of 1-46.

"Your old men shall dream dreams;
Your young men shall see visions."

If the revered Dr. Muhlenberg could have stood on Cathedral Heights on Saturday, May 6th, when the corner-stone of the new St. Luke's Hospital was laid, his heart would have rejoiced in the realization of his vision. Old Chelsea Square, New York, has witnessed a transformation in the classic buildings of the General Theological Seminary, which have sprung into being within the last ten years. But better than the beauty of material structure is the fact that the halls are filled with students, as are the halls of all our theological seminaries. It is but a few weeks since representatives of the several seminaries met in Chelsea Square and conferred together on their common interests. These are dreams realized. The New York cathedral is advancing more rapidly than the most sanguine would have predicted five years ago. The Missionary Society of the Church, which has for more than seventy years dwelt in hired rooms, sees now its own Missions House rising in graceful proportions. Diocesan houses and parish houses on every hand afford centres for varied and practical activities. Parochial life has found new forms of effective work, and daring projects of benevolence are being carried into execution. City evangelization has grown apace through the united efforts of parishes which formerly stood apart, each going its own way. Missionary extension is infused with courage, and dreams of conquest are being realized. The growth of woman's work, the expansion of the Woman's Auxiliary and its junior outgrowth; Sunday-school associations and the Children's Lenten Offering movement; the spread of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew; congresses, convocations, institutes in behalf of every variety of Church work, these denote a degree of interest and mutual helpfulness which show a consciousness of vitality, power and mission of which the fathers dreamed, but which we young men are permitted to witness.

The Episcopate will have added to its members at least twelve new Bishops within the year succeeding the last General Convention. The Prayer Book has been revised, the Hymnal has been revised, the Constitution of the Church is in the hands of a commission for revision preparatory to the new century of Church life. We stand too close to these things to appreciate their real significance; but if we could place ourselves in fancy at a little distance, so as to gain perspective, we should see abundant reason to rejoice in the progress of which men and women of faith fondly dreamed.

With the liberty which is essential to progress, and the spirit of loyalty which is a guarantee of stability, may we not lift up thankful hearts to God for His mercies, and take courage for the future?

In this record of progress, much has been due to the disposition of men of varying views to trust one another, and combine in common aims for the glory of God. The Church is now facing a future great with possibilities if men will put heart and money into the work. It will require a great deal of money, as well as clear vision and strong purpose, but with these the future is full of promise. What other object in life can compare with this in importance? The educational and missionary capabilities of the Church summon us to high endeavor. Our utmost energies and largest gifts are needful to strengthen the institutions of learning and add vigor to the missionary enterprise. The Churchman's plea for endorsement of the Missionary Episcopate, if heeded, would clear the way for new advance along lines that have been largely fruitful in the past. Stocks and bonds converted into such securities will yield a hundredfold and will be treasures laid up in Heaven. The Church occupies a vantage-ground to-day from which she appeals to the noblest ambitions of her sons and daughters, inviting them to use whatever talents God has intrusted to them in the service of His Kingdom.—Rev. Dr. Wm. S. Langford, in The Churchman.

MISSIONARY INTELLIGENCE.

INDIANA.—The Rev. J. A. McGlone, missionary at Anderson and Alexandria, writes: "Since my last report I have organized St. Paul's Mission at Alexandria, a flourishing town of 8,000 inhabitants. Alexandria is in the famous natural gas belt of Indiana and was a quiet little town of 1,000 people two years ago."

IOWA.—The Rev. Irving McElroy, archdeacon of Waverly, comprising the northern half of the state, writes in his last quarterly report that during the past quarter he had held seventy services, visited fifty-six towns, baptized thirteen children, presented thirty-two persons for confirmation, and travelled 3,119 miles. Mr. McElroy says: "It is almost impossible to record anything beyond statistics, but I have located about 200 communicants who have never before seen a clergyman in this country."

MISSISSIPPI.—The Rev. Nelson Ayres writes: "At Ocean Springs the progress of the work has been specially marked. We have been able, during the last quarter, to raise enough money to meet the interest, and make the first payment on the money advanced for the building of the church by the Church Building Fund, and to purchase the pews besides, of which we stood in great need. Ocean Springs has now one of the handsomest little churches in the diocese, with a seating capacity of about 250, which, with the grounds, is worth not less than $3,000, and on which but $500 are owing, and this in a place where but two years ago the first service of the Church was held. The congregation are now anxiously considering whether they can raise a salary sufficient to enable their missionary to give up the secular work by which he makes the most of his living and live among them. A kind friend in New York has promised to add $100 a year to whatever they may be able to raise."

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.—On May 14th, the Sunday after Ascension, Bishop Wingfield consecrated St. James's Church, Collinsville, Solano county. This missionary outpost is a very worthy monument to the faith and zeal of a mere handful of scattered people. Mr. E. I. Upham gave the land for the church lot and cemetery, and in two years' time, there has been erected, furnished, and paid for, a very neat and churchly building, which will accommodate comfortably 100 people. The Rev. John T. Shurtleff, of Napa, assisted in the consecration service by reading the instruments of consecration, the lessons, and the Epistle. The Rev. W. L. Clark, missionary in charge, conducted the morning service for the day, and the Bishop preached to a large and attentive congregation from the text, "This is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven" (Gen. xxviii. 17), and celebrated the Holy Communion. Excellent music was supplied by the choir and organist of St. Paul's Church, Benicia. After the service, the congregation proceeded to the cemetery adjoining, which was then duly set apart for its holy purpose. The service of appropriate psalms and prayers closed with the Trinity hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," and the benediction pronounced by the Bishop.

VIRGINIA.—The Rev. J. J. Gravatt, writing of his work in the Hampton Institute in his last quarterly report says: "On March 19th Bishop Randolph confirmed nine Indians (five boys and four girls) in a class with others, at St. John's Church. The material in the class was very promising. We have never had a better health record among the Indians here than this year. They have taken great pleasure in raising money for the education of Herbert Welsh, an Indian youth preparing for the Ministry under Bishop Hare."

THE REPORT OF THE BISHOP OF ALBANY UPON THE GREEK MISSION SCHOOL.*

MY DEAR PRESIDING BISHOP:

I write to make my formal report of my visit to Athens undertaken at the direction of the Board of Missions at its last meeting in Baltimore, and I must at the very outset say that I could hardly have done it at all, and certainly not with such ease and comfort, but for the generous kindness of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who not only took me as his guest, but made the journey and the visit doubly pleasant by going himself. The school for which the Board of Missions is responsible, under the direction of Miss Muir, is known in Athens as the American Mission School. The other school, known as the "Hill Memorial" under Miss Masson, is under the direction of a special board of trustees, of which I believe you are president. I think I ought to say of the two schools together, that they are both occupied in carrying on the work which Dr. Hill began, and which has made his memory so really blessed in Athens. His work there was in two phases, sometimes together and sometimes apart. He cared in the first place for the poor children, whose education was virtually free (that is, they paid only a nominal sum), but he also received the daughters of well-to-do people; and in this way really educated many of the first ladies of Greece, who are now, Miss Tricoupis tells me, filling important places as teachers and in society. This work Miss Masson is carrying on, and I should think doing it very well. She is, as you know, a niece of Mrs. Hill's, and Miss Tricoupis and the Archbishop of Athens speak very warmly of her and her work. When Dr. Hill began this school there were no good girls' schools in Greece, and since then very good schools have been established, and I fancy Dr. Hill must have felt this, because in his later life he dropped and then took up again this part of the work.

I think it is only right to say here, that there is a difference of opinion, among people who know the case, as to the need of the education of the higher classes by any American school. Both the consul and vice-consul think that the Greek schools supply the work, but others, the Archbishop, for instance, feel that the religious teaching in Miss Masson's school, which the Greek schools do not give, is very valuable. I am bound to say that in both the schools there is the greatest care taken not in any way to interfere with the children's relation to the Greek Church. Miss Masson has, connected with her school, a chapel in which the Greek service is held every Sunday; and the Priest of the parish in which Miss Muir's school is, is very intimate with her, and has charge of the children's religious teaching.

I was absolutely satisfied and delighted with everything I saw in Miss Muir's school. There were more than 200 children there of the poorer class, but very neat and clean, and very intelligent and admirably trained. The whole influence there is evidently of the best. I heard them recite in various things, from learning the alphabet up to recitations in Scripture history; they sang some Greek hymns, and the Greek national song, and wound up by making me an address of welcome in Greek, and singing "Hail Columbia" in very broken English. I transferred my old Greek into a near enough approach to the present pronunciation to say "Thank you" and give them my blessing. Miss Muir is obliged to sell the place where she now is, partly because it is not healthy, and partly because the land is to be taken to complete some excavations which the government are making to develop an agora, which they have discovered near there. She has bought and paid for a very admirable piece of land, which she has walled in, and on which she has built a little tool-house in which by-and-by the guardian can live. She hopes to sell the present property to the government, but it is doubtful when, and for what price. Meanwhile it is very important for her to get the money to build, for which she needs about $16,000; and I very earnestly urge the Board to make an effort to get this money for her at once.

* Published by order of the Board.

Miss Muir herself is really a very able woman, thoroughly devoted to the work; with an excellent business head and completely imbued with Dr. and Mrs. Hill's spirit. If she could get the money to build it would enable her to lay by whatever she gets by the sale of the present property, as an endowment for the work. I am enclosing you a letter from the Archimandrite to which the Archbishop has affixed his testimonial, so that you may see what he thought on this point, and I am also sending you his letter of greeting to you and the Archimandrite's letter. I had a long talk with this man, who talked Greek slowly enough for me to understand him; and a long talk also with the Archbishop, who speaks French very well and who is a most delightful man, and doing a very great work there in elevating the tone of the Greek clergy.

Always your faithful brother,

WM. CROSWELL DOANE.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM BISHOP FERGUSON.

THE friends of the African mission who may have been interested in what was stated in my last annual report concerning the steps taken on the part of the Cape Palmas Greboes to procure a Bible for the tribe, to take the place of their fetich, will doubtless be glad to know the outcome of the matter. At the time of preparing the said report, an order had been sent to New York through our General Secretary for the book. It came in due time, and proved to be just what was wanted—one of Messrs. James Pott & Co.'s most strongly and neatly bound large volumes of the Sacred Scriptures.

In order to make the occasion as impressive as possible, I arranged for a special service in the Elizabeth W. Jones Memorial Chapel, Bigtown (capital of the tribe) for the delivery of the book. A large congregation was present. Besides the king and chiefs and a goodly number of their people of both sexes, there were present many of the Christians (converts from heathenism) from St. James' Parish, Hoffman Station, and a good sprinkling of ladies and gentlemen from St. Mark's Parish, Harper, including Mayor Tubman, the Hon. J. W. Ashton, our business agent, and the Hon. J. J. Neal, superintendent of the orphan asylum and girls' school. The Rev. H. C. Nyema Merriam was with me in the chancel.

After devotional exercises, all eyes were turned to the sacred volume. Having removed the covering which was specially made for it by Mrs. Ferguson, I delivered it to the king with some appropriate words. The following important declaration was written on one of the fly-leaves: "We, king and chiefs of the Cape Palmas Grebo tribe, acting for our people, do hereby set forth and declare that having abolished forever all fetich, 'medicine' or charms of the devil-doctors, we have purchased this Holy Bible as the property of the tribe, to be kept and used on all state occasions in token of our acceptance of the Christian religion as the sure rule and guide of our people. In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands this second day of February, in the year of our Lord, eighteen hundred and ninety-three."

The king and chiefs—each village being represented—then severally came forward before the assembly and affixed their signatures to the said declaration. Two of them (one of whom was the king) wrote their own names in full. The others verified their signatures by cross marks. The following are the names which will be handed down to posterity, doubtless with as much honor as is accorded to the signers of the Declaration of American Independence.*

Having finished the signing, the king and several of the principal chiefs made short addresses, all expressing the great joy which the occasion afforded them. It was clear from their remarks that they were fully conscious of the importance of their action. God be praised for the happy result of our efforts.

During the visit of the President of Liberia to this county last month, he visited Bigtown, and we arranged for a meeting in our chapel to give him an opportunity to address the people. Having explained to him the advancement which the tribe is making in civilization and Christianity, the Bible was presented for his inspection. He seemed highly delighted, and made a very appropriate address, which was listened to with marked attention by the chiefs and other people. In the course of his remarks, he reminded the natives of a prevalent evil, which would have a blighting effect on all their good efforts, and which is condemned in their Bible, namely, that which follows the use of ardent spirits. At the close of his address he bade the meeting to prayer, and invoked God's blessing on the work. The attorney-general, one of the president's suite, also made some remarks to the natives concerning their choice of the Bible as their guide. He took the ground that all law should be based on its teachings.

Thus it will be observed by our friends that the Lord is greatly blessing our labors among this people, which is a cause for thankfulness and a source of encouragement in our further efforts. This advancement, however, necessarily involves larger facilities in the prosecution of the work. As stated in my last annual report, there are some pressing needs which should be supplied without delay.

First of all, we need to erect a church at Hoffman Station, in the centre of the tribe which has taken such a long step towards Christianity and civilization. Having abolished fetich and taken the Bible instead, and withal made a law to observe the Lord's Day, we shall do well to provide all necessary facilities to promote their further advancement. The edifice is needed for the use of native converts and the heathen from the near villages. Such a building as would answer the purpose would cost $2,000.

Secondly, for the two chapels already built—the Elizabeth W. Jones Memorial and the C. C. Hoffman Memorial,*—we need two bells, each weighing about 100 pounds.

Thirdly, we need two smaller chapels for other tribes, which have promised to observe the Lord's Day, and among which there are other hopeful indications. Each of these would cost $1,000. These chapels are all to be built of wooden frames covered with sheet-iron, which can be made very durable.

Will not the friends of the African mission and Churchmen generally lend a helping hand, that we may grasp the golden opportunity for advancing the work among this people, who are just emerging from midnight darkness? Let us "strike the iron while it is hot." The buildings may be made monuments erected to the glory of God and in loving memory of some departed follower of Jesus. I see that contributions are being collected to erect a monument to the memory of the late Bishop Brooks in the United States; and a correspondent of the Churchman suggests that efforts be made to have a memorial tablet to his memory placed in Westminster Abbey. It is a worthy object and should claim the attention and patronage of Churchmen; but may I beg also that a monument be erected here in Africa to the memory of the great preacher? If the two thousand dollar church, mentioned above, will be considered unbecoming so great a name because of its very modest pretensions, then let us have the Phillips Brooks Memorial Church in connection with our training institution at Cuttington—a need whose claims I had intended pressing after those mentioned above shall have been met. It is to be a stone edifice of neat, churchly appearance, becoming its situation of close proximity to our highest training institution, and will cost about $6,000. It strikes me that no monument of one who was regarded as the greatest American preacher can be more fitting than a church edifice where the blessed Gospel of Jesus Christ, which he preached so eloquently and effectively, may still be proclaimed by men whom God will raise up from time to time to advance His cause.

SAMUEL DAVID FERGUSON,
Missionary Bishop of Cape Palmas.
HARPER, March 30th, 1893.

THE CHILDREN OF THE KINGDOM.

OUR blessed Master, in describing the harvest of the Gospel, not only says that "the seed is the Word of God," but He also declares that "the good seed are the children of the Kingdom," thereby plainly intimating that the propagation of His truth in the world is not only dependent on the preaching of His blessed Gospel, but also on the presence and influence in the world of His devoted people.

Surely a study of the lives of our missionaries, and of the effects which have been produced upon those who witnessed them, bears abundant witness to this truth. The presence of such men as Henry Martyn, or David Livingstone, or Alexander Mackay, has often proved to be a gospel in itself, and has testified to the existence of a nobler decalogue than their degraded hearers had ever dreamt of. "Send me none of your agents or ambassadors," exclaimed Hyder Ali, "for I do not trust their words or their treaties; but if you wish me to listen to your proposals, send to me the missionary Schwartz, of whose character I have heard so much from every one. Him I will trust and receive. Send me the Christian."

But why should such happy influences be confined to the appointed missionary? and why should not every Christian aim at being a "living epistle, known and read of all men?"—Dr. W. Pakenham Walsh, Bishop of Ossory.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Africa.—By the time this magazine is issued, Bishop Ferguson will be en route for the United States for the purpose of attending the congress of Christian missions in Chicago and the Missionary Council in San Francisco. He was proposing to sail from Monrovia by the first steamer in July.

—Mrs. M. R. Brierley, after nearly twelve years' service in the field, is in the United States on vacation. She left Cape Mount on April 13th, Monrovia April 25th, and Freetown, Sierra Leone, May 1st; arriving at Liverpool by steamer "Roquette" on the 18th of that month. She sailed thence by the steamer "Scythia" on June 8th, and reached Boston on the 18th.

INCREASING NEEDS OF THE MISSION.

IN a business letter received recently the Rev. Joseph M. Francis, secretary of the Standing Committee, writes: "The new work at Aomori, begun during the present year, and that at Fukushima, transferred to us by the English mission, call for a considerable outlay; but it is the opinion of the Standing Committee that the work at both of these points is of great importance, and that it should be pushed with vigor. Our work is extending on all sides, and we must either have more men and more means to carry it on, or lose opportunities which may never be ours again. We pray that God may open the hearts of His people to respond gladly and liberally to the call for increased support for the missions of the Church."

MISCELLANY.

INTERCESSION.

THE prospect of a large deficit at the close of the fiscal year, August 31st, cannot be contemplated without deep anxiety. The friends of missions are desired to unite in prayer to Him who has told us in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, to let our requests be made known unto Him, that He will supply this want.

A STRIKING EVIDENCE OF CHRISTIANITY.

IN the first period, the conversion of individuals was the chief aim. In the second, a national acknowledgment of Christ in the person of the ruler, leading to a more or less formal acknowledgment on the part of the subjects. In the third, the building up of indigenous churches. "Middleton and Gibbon rendered a real service to Christianity," says Sir James Stephen ("Essays in Ecclesiastical Biography," vol. i.), "by attempting to prove that the rapid extension of the primitive Church was merely the natural result of natural causes; for what better proof could be given of the Divine origin of any religion than by showing that it had at once overspread the civilized world by the expansive power of an inherent aptitude to the nature and to the wants of mankind?" Again and again we shall be struck by the essential sameness and the inexhaustible variety of the one world-wide religion.

The marvellous way in which the Gospel has met the special needs of every age and every race with which our story deals is one of the most striking evidences of Christianity. To some it came as a philosophy, satisfying the highest intellectual aspirations; to others, as a philanthropy, lifting men from the lowest depths of misery and sin; to some it came as a principle of freedom, proclaiming that all men are brothers, and blasting caste and slavery and oppression; to others, as a principle of order, checking the lawless disintegration of society.

Before us pass in succession, apostles, martyrs, and apologists; philosophers, theologians, statesmen, and hermits; Catholicism, monasticism, scholasticism, Protestantism, Puritanism, pietism; all imperfect, and some very imperfect exemplifications of Christ's teaching, but all phases of the same faith which, in spite of the weaknesses and sins and perversities of men, has gained wider and wider sway as the centuries roll on, purifying and ennobling human life in all its aspects.—Church Missionary Intelligencer.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE PROPAGATION SOCIETY.

THE 192d annual meeting of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel was held in St. James' Hall, London, the Archbishop of Canterbury presiding. The secretary read a brief report of the society's work during the past year, from which it appeared that the gross income amounted to £127,148, showing an increase of £10,628 over that of the previous year. The number of ordained missionaries, including eight Bishops, was 676, of whom 157 were natives of Africa and Asia. There were also concerned in various missions 2,300 lay teachers, 2,600 students in the society's colleges, and 38,000 children in mission schools.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO MISSIONS.

THE Calvary Evangel, the parish paper of Calvary Church, New York, says: "A member of the missionary literature committee, at Dr. Satterlee's request, has tabulated the following statement of the various amounts contributed to Foreign and Domestic Missions by the different leading denominations in the United States. Dr. Satterlee wished the attention of those interested called to the fact that, although the contributions of the Protestant Episcopal Church are smaller than those of the other bodies of Christians, this does not show apathy upon our part, but merely that our Church expends more than the others upon parochial missionary work, which sums do not appear as either Foreign or Domestic missionary appropriations."

The contributions given in the Evangel are as follows: Protestant Episcopal Church: Domestic and Foreign $521,507.21; Methodist Episcopal: Foreign $1,041,393, Home $581,383, Miscellaneous $49,554; Presbyterian: Foreign $1,021,555.06, Home $910,316.05; American Board (Congregational): Foreign $647,000, Woman's Foreign $1,692,962; American Missionary Association (Congregational): Current Receipts $430,568.49; Baptist Missionary Union: Foreign $653,000; African Methodist Episcopal: Foreign $8,498.90; Home $14,291.

EXPLORERS AND MISSIONARIES.

ONE of the missionaries in Alaska of the American Missionary Association writes: "The world lauds and admires Arctic explorers, who, with every appliance that science, ingenuity, and lavish expenditure of money can provide to make them comfortable, spend one or two seasons in Arctic regions; but very little is heard of the men, and women, too, who, with scanty appliances for making themselves comfortable, spend twenty-five or thirty years, and even their lives, in these same regions, that the dark, desolate homes of the natives may receive the light of the Gospel. It takes from $25,000 to $50,000 to fit out an Arctic expedition for two years—to do what? Perhaps get a few miles farther north than any one else. But the Church hesitates if asked to provide $10,000 for an Arctic mission."

A NEW BOOK ON KOREA.

WE have received from the Presbyterian Board of Publication, in Philadelphia, a work entitled "Korea from Its Capital," by the Rev. George W. Gilmore. It adds much to our knowledge of a curious and interesting people. There is no attempt to treat the history of the nation, except during the last decade, that having been done in the work of the Rev. Dr. Griffis. Mr. Gilmore has been a missionary in Korea for eight years, and his narrative is confined to what a person may see and learn while residing about that length of time in the country.

After chapters devoted to the aspects, climate and productions of the country, the government, language, people, religions, etc., an historical sketch is given of the Methodist and Presbyterian missions, but only brief mention is made of the mission of the English Church, as it was begun only a little while before the book was written. Mr. Gilmore shows that the Koreans have proved to be more receptive of Christian truth than the Chinese or even the Japanese during the first ten years of missionary work among them.

IMPORTANCE OF MISSIONARY WORK.

THE Bishop of Christchurch, New Zealand, is now on a visit to England. In an address to the members of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel he said that he regarded the missionary work, especially the Melanesian work, as the hope of the well-being of the New Zealand Church within her own borders.

BISHOP TUCKER AT MENGU.

BISHOP TUCKER and his party arrived at Mengo, the capital of Uganda, on December 24th last, and had the great joy of spending Christmas Day with the brethren there. The Bishop writes: "Christmas Day dawned, and verily it is a day never to be forgotten. The thrill that went through me when two years ago I addressed a congregation of 1,000 souls in the old church is still fresh in my memory. If I was thrilled then I was simply overwhelmed yesterday when I stood up to speak in the Name of our Master to a congregation numbering over 5,000 souls. I wonder whether in the whole mission field such a sight has been witnessed since apostolic days. The perfect stillness as I stood up to speak, and indeed throughout the service, was almost as awe-inspiring as the sight of this great multitude itself. Mr. Pilkington interpreted for me, and it was quite evident that he performed his task to perfection. In the afternoon a second service was held, and I suppose between 3,000 and 4,000 people must have been present. At this service about thirty women were baptized. Mr. Baskerville preached in Luganda. Later in the afternoon an English service was held. At this service a larger number of Europeans were present than have ever been gathered together before in Uganda. Christmas Day was a trying day, but an intensely joyful day—a day worth coming to the ends of the earth to enjoy."

The Bishop mentions the intense delight of the natives because he had brought more than 8,000 portions of the Word of God with him. They were quickly sold, and many more loads of books, which were on the way, he says, "will go like a puff of wind," so joyfully eager are the people for the possession of the written Word.

MORE GIVING AND SERVING NEEDED.

AN English Church paper says: The financial position of the Church Missionary Society is so far satisfactory, that, with one exception, the total receipts for the year exceed those of former years. Nevertheless, the society has so increased its expenditure that it has to face a deficit.

We must of course be thankful for any advance at all, but we may well regret that the advance is very small. Bearing in mind the enormous growth of wealth in the country of late years, we cannot regard the advance in the incomes of our religious societies as affording any ground for congratulation. It is rather, we think, humiliating to remember that a penny increase in the income-tax produces an amount at least five-fold the entire sum devoted to the world-wide work of the Church Missionary Society.

We want to enter more fully into the mind of God as "the Lord" of the missionary "harvest." It is His harvest, and His interest in it should stimulate ours. We pray every day "Thy Kingdom come," but how feebly do our self-denying offerings indicate the strength of our desire for the evangelization of the world! May "the Lord of the harvest send forth more laborers," both in giving and in serving, who are animated by His spirit of self-sacrificing love and zeal.

FRAGMENTS.

—The congress of missions at the World's Fair will be held in the memorial art palace on the Lake Shore, Chicago. It is to last eight days, from September 28th to October 5th inclusive.

—When the professors of the Doshisha university at Kyoto, Japan, and their wives meet in a social gathering they make a company of sixty persons. Among the Japanese members are four doctors of philosophy, several doctors of medicine, not to speak of other degrees which have been well earned in American universities.

—The progress of the Kingdom of God in the world, said Mackay of Uganda, is a study well calculated to enlarge the mind and soul, and rescue torpid congregations from their self-satisfied ease.

—The Rev. W. H. Ball, an experienced English Church missionary in India, says that many more of the converts are won by native preachers, some of whom are men of wonderful eloquence, than by the foreign missionaries.

—The Rev. J. Sadler, of Amoy, writes: "The Chinese are now known to be keen on our newspapers (in Chinese), and not a little interested in seeing what is thought of them. They cannot shut themselves up any longer. One paper, called The Ten Thousand Countries' Newspaper, is, we believe, read in high quarters. We know of a mandarin, not mean in degree, who considers it greatly to his interest to have honorable mention in this paper. What suggestions grow out of such a fact as to good though silent influence."

—Bishop Romig, of the Moravian Church, writing concerning the results of missionary labor among the Colored people of Jamaica, says: "We find the black people owning land and houses, a number of small peasant proprietors, industrious, honest, and God-fearing; acquiring and practising, year by year, those habits of steady application, intelligence, and self-reliance so essential to success in the black or white man. Among their number to-day are lawyers, doctors, clergymen, and schoolmasters, talented, successful and respected members of their professions."

—Dr. J. G. Kerr, an American medical missionary at Canton, China, during his nearly forty years of work, has made this record: Over 1,000,000 attendances upon the sick and suffering; over 35,000 operations performed; some thirty volumes of medical and other works translated; besides the training of 100 or more native Chinese as medical missionaries. For twenty years the desire of his heart has been to see a lunatic asylum established in China. To build and equip this will cost some $50,000, but when once started it will be almost, if not altogether, self-supporting.

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

ROOM 21, BIBLE HOUSE, NEW YORK,

MISS JULIA C. EMERY, Secretary.

A REFRESHING CHANGE.

WE are glad to reprint from the Church News of Mississippi and Louisiana, a paper bearing this title, "A Refreshing Change." It comes from the pen of a parish officer of the Auxiliary in Mississippi, and we give it for the encouragement of other parish officers who are always especially cheered by helpful words coming from our smaller and weaker branches:

In urging upon parish societies and individuals that they join the ranks of the Woman's Auxiliary, those having the matter at heart are so frequently met with the same old excuses—"Too poor," "Our own parish is really a mission," "Charity begins at home," etc.,—that they have come to expect them as a matter of course, and try to possess their souls in patience—and keep their temper!

But, at the recent meeting of the Auxiliary, one parish society urged as an objection against joining the Auxiliary that they were not able to send off missionary boxes of any great monetary value, and until they could do something really worthy they would prefer not to attempt the work. Their rector agreed with them, saying it had been his lot as a missionary to receive boxes valued at from $200 to $400, and he would not like a box to go from his parish unless it was as good.

Now this is a refreshing change from the old cry, and to the workers in the Auxiliary a much more hopeful one, for surely it is more encouraging to have people refuse to help in the work because they cannot give largely, than because they have no interest outside their line of vision. And we can readily understand and sympathize with this feeling, for when a branch of the Auxiliary notifies the Secretary that they will send a box to a certain missionary, his name is marked as provided for, and it is only right and honorable that the society undertaking the work should consider carefully whether they are able to provide for his comfort as other branches of the Auxiliary could do.

This we heartily endorse. But the mistake the rector and his ladies make is in supposing that the Woman's Auxiliary is really a "Woman's Missionary Box Society"; that unless they can send a good missionary box, they have no place in the ranks of the Auxiliary.

This is a not uncommon mistake; yet it ought to be, for in the published reports and leaflets, concerning the work of the Auxiliary, which are sent gratuitously from the Mission Rooms it is repeated over and over again that missionary boxes are only a small part of the work to be done; moreover, that they are only a temporary expedient, until parishes have learned to give so liberally that the missionary treasury may be filled. Then there are printed endless suggestions for work, from the small sums given regularly each month through the Auxiliary envelopes for the use of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, to the endowment of a Missionary Episcopate ($50,000).

I know of at least one mission in our diocese (they hope soon to build a chapel,) where the Holy Communion is administered from a china plate and a glass. A neat silver-plated Communion service can be had for ten dollars. The parish is weak indeed, that cannot raise that sum in one year, and so make a beginning in the joyful work for others.

By referring to the constitution of the diocesan branch it will be seen that it is intended that the diocesan branch undertake some piece of work toward which each parish society is asked to give something. This will never be done if they all wait until they can give large sums. Again article V. provides that the parochial branches in each convocation may unite on some general work if they feel unable to undertake anything single-handed.

If missionary boxes are of secondary importance only, why, we are often asked, do they form so prominent a part of all reports of the work of the Auxiliary? Because a parish society (particularly if it be not wealthy, or is composed of young girls) finds that it can double the value of the actual cash in hand by judiciously investing it and carefully making garments, etc. There is no reason why a missionary with a family should be chosen as the recipient of the box. Thirty-five dollars in the hands of practical women, will provide a good box for a single man, clerical suit and all (I speak from experience). Bishop Hare says nothing more acceptable ever crosses his jurisdiction than a box on the way to one of his Indian schools, be it little or big. If any one thinks a box of good strong clothing, charges prepaid, even if its value is only ten dollars, is an unwelcome visitor at a Church Home for orphans, I advise them to go to Memphis and see the struggle carried on by two brave sisters to provide "daily bread" for nearly sixty young children.

The great need is not that we give largely, but that every one give something. We should never lose sight of the fact that missions are the life of the Church: that that sending is like the blood in our own veins; keeping on its steady flow, we live, ceasing that constant flow, we die. This is why we want to see branches of the Auxiliary in Arizona and Mississippi, as well as in Massachusetts and New York; why we want to see one in the poorest mission as well as in the largest city parish. And as no one should be passed by because she is too rich, so no one should be passed by because she is too poor. To make our work effectual we must realize that we are a body of workers, and each take her place in this concerted action. And remember, unless somebody had been willing to make a small beginning we should have no societies to-day able to send boxes valued at several hundred dollars.

A MISSIONARY JOURNEY.

WE hope that the members of the Auxiliary who see The Churchman have followed our Honorary Secretary in her journey around the world. She has sent to that paper accounts of her visits to the many missions she has visited in Egypt, India and Ceylon, and these accounts become all the more personally interesting to us as they begin to deal with our own missions in China and Japan. This is more especially so at this time when our minds are turned to these missions particularly, by reason of the recent consecration of their Bishops.

In a private letter written from Shanghai on the first of May, Mrs. Twing writes:

I am writing at Mr. Yen's, with whom I have been all the morning seeing sights, while waiting for Mrs. Rein to come to take me back to St. John's. I spent the night here, after driving all day by carriage and riding on wheelbarrows, with Miss Dodson and Mr. Woo, to chapels at the out stations, thirty miles. Last week we had one houseboat trip as far as Fongta, Miss Dodson and I in one boat, and Mr. Massie and Mr. Chu in another. Mrs. Smalley let us have her cook, so we were most comfortable. Miss Dodson and I planned the woman's meeting for Thursday, when the China Branch of the Auxiliary is to be formally organized, drew up a constitution, and compared notes on woman's work in China generally. Wednesday we are to spend together in the native city here in Shanghai, at the West Gate mission, where the Bridgman Memorial School was formerly, and Friday we go to another village where Miss Dodson has a weekly Bible-class. To-morrow the Shanghai Missionary Conference meets at St. John's, and I still have the boys' dormitories there to see, and the dispensary during Dr. Mathews' office hours, and the day-school of the adjoining village; and we leave late Friday or early Saturday morning.

Dr. Boone has given a fine lacquered tablet, presented by a mandarin in praise of St. Luke's Hospital, for the Auxiliary rooms, and Dr. Haslep a Full Long Life Series—'Long Life,' written in one hundred different Chinese characters—on a gorgeous scroll; Dr. Merrins an idol or demi-god from a temple in Wuchang, and the girls of St. Mary's are to embroider two missionary texts on a pair of silk scrolls, while the women will have a box of curios for the cabinet, prepared and packed under Mr. Yen's superintendence, and he will label them and make a catalogue.

It is with great pleasure that we hear of these gifts from China for the Auxiliary rooms in the new Missions House. Our friends in the China Mission are thus reminding the Auxiliary at home that the new building is rapidly going up, and will be ready for occupancy before another year has passed. It would be a pleasant thing if every diocese and missionary jurisdiction should follow this example set in China, and send some appropriate gift to the Auxiliary rooms, marking its interest in them, and its part ownership in all the benefits to be derived from them.

JAPAN.

OUR FIRST GRADUATES FROM THE LADIES' INSTITUTE, OSAKA.

MISS BULL writes, April 25th, as follows: "I know you will sympathize with me in my joy and deep thankfulness to God for the two lovely young women whom we have just graduated from the Osaka Ladies' Institute—our first graduates. Two earnest Christian young women, who have found time in the midst of their studies, during the last three years, to do a great deal of devoted, efficient work in our Lord's vineyard, in gentle, unobtrusive ways. They have been the best workers in the St. John's Women's Society, in the management of the Orphanage during the last two years, and my attempts to gather the children of the neighborhood into a Sunday class would have met with little success if I had not had these two dear girls to help so efficiently. I send you a photograph of them, with their precious diplomas in their hands.

"The young lady on your right as you face the picture is Miss Kitazato. She is of an excellent family in Kyushu, one of the two large Southern Islands of Japan. Her eldest brother is one of the most eminent physicians in Japan. Indeed, he has a world-wide reputation as a microscopist. He returned last spring from special study in Germany. Miss Kitazato is also a cousin of Mr. Otsuka, the first catechist who had charge of St. John's Church, Osaka. She has been a pupil of the Institute about four years. She was an excellent scholar in Japanese when she first came to us, and has sometimes rendered efficient aid in teaching. English and music she began with us, and her progress, especially in the former, has been remarkable. When she had been studying two years, we lost our translation teacher, and Miss Kitazato filled her place efficiently for half the school year. She also, from that time, kindly interpreted for me in my Bible and children's classes, and spoke and wrote intelligently in English herself. I have enclosed the English essays of the two young ladies. Miss Kitazato's needed as little correction from me as that of a bright pupil in America might receive. Miss Kitazato became a Christian in less than a year after she joined the Institute. She had the advantage of being in the Christian household of a cousin. Her natural character is strong and beautiful, and it has become very lovely adorned with Christian graces. Although she is so bright and efficient, she is very gentle and sweet-tempered—always helpful to every one around her, forgetful of self, and humble. I think I wrote you how she daily washed the feet of the six or seven little orphans, who were suffering terribly from suppurated chilblains, while the old matron was in the hospital last February. This dear girl went away soon after the graduating day to her native island, but not to her father's house. According to the custom of the country, she went directly to the home of her fiancé. This gentleman is a Christian minister of the Congregational Church, who has studied six years in America and one at Edinburgh University, and is a Ph. D., and a very earnest, hard worker. You can imagine how hard it was for us all to part with her, and how earnest are our prayers that God will continue to bless her in the new field to which he has called her. She will make a very happy home for her husband, for, besides her education and her disposition, she knows how to do everything about a Japanese house, even to spinning and weaving.

I have met him once, and he seemed so truly a Christian gentleman that I feel sure he will appreciate her and make her happy.

"The other dear child is the daughter of a retainer of the Prince of Wakayama. In the days before the revolution which put an end to the feudal power, and when she was a little girl, the family lived in a large and beautiful place at Wakayama. But, as you know, the incomes of the samurai shrank when the feudal system came to an end; now Miss Shioji's father lives comfortably in Osaka, but not in grand style as before; and although he has not found a higher object for his allegiance than his Prince and his Emperor, his wife and young daughter and son have become followers of the Prince of Peace. Miss Shioji was baptized at the same time with Miss Kitazato and they have been dear friends ever since. Miss Shioji became a pupil at the Institute a few months earlier than Miss Kitazato. She has great musical talent, and excels in all kinds of manual accomplishments, both Japanese and foreign. She has played the organ at St. John's Church for several years, and trained the orphans to sing. She plays several Japanese instruments well, and draws and paints in Japanese style very cleverly. She writes and speaks English nearly as well as Miss Kitazato. Her hand-writing, both in Japanese and English, is very pretty. The essay which I send was copied by herself from her original. Both the young ladies write interesting letters in English, and I intend, now that Miss Shioji has more time, to put her in communication with some of our kind friends who are supporting children in the Orphanage, that she may help me in reports to them. We are very fortunate in being able to keep Miss Shioji still at the Institute. I have given her the English writing-class, a class in singing, and a few pupils on the organ to teach. As she gains experience she will be able to take other classes, I think. She can teach English now, better than many of the native teachers in the government schools. She is going on with her own musical studies under Miss Laning and myself, and adding more to her knowledge of English literature. Miss Kitazato's mantle has fallen upon her in the little Sunday class at my house, and she is very kind and helpful in many ways, and very anxious to do all she can for the church and asylum and school."

Offerings are asked to sustain missions in eighteen missionary jurisdictions and thirty-four dioceses, including missions to the Indians and to the Colored People in our land, as well as missions in China, Japan, Africa, Haiti and Greece—to pay the salaries of eighteen Bishops and stipends to 1,200 missionary workers, and to support schools, hospitals and orphanages.

All things come of Thee, O Lord,
And of Thine own have we given Thee.

CHARACTER OF OUR MEN.

The Society has sent into the Ministry over 400 men. With rare exceptions they are doing efficient work in the Ministry. Many of them already occupy posts of large influence. Some are Bishops. Six are professors in Theological Seminaries. Several are eminent missionaries. A number are rectors of leading city parishes. Indeed, they are earnestly sought for, and gladly received wherever they go, and, as a rule, they are an honor to the Ministry and to the Church.

CONCLUSIVE TESTIMONY.

We select a few reports from Bishops who have charge of the larger portion of our graduates, Bishops who represent widely separate sections of the country and various schools of churchmanship.

BISHOP CLARK, of Rhode Island, says: "They are regarded by us all as men of the highest ability, and they have all been most active and useful laborers here. They have exercised their Ministry to the glory of God and the edification of His Church."

BISHOP PINKNEY, of Maryland, writes: "All of them stand high in the list of clergy. Most, if not all of them, give promise of distinction in after life. They are Presbyters of whom any Diocese might be proud."

BISHOP CLARKSON, of Nebraska, writes: "As good men as we have in the West for zeal, piety, efficiency and usefulness."

BISHOP VAIL, of Kansas, writes: "Capital, excellent, faithful and true. Above the average."

BISHOP WHITAKER, of Nevada, writes: "I am certain that the average ability, fidelity and fitness for usefulness of these men is higher than the average of the same qualities in any Diocese in which I am acquainted. I only wish that the whole body of the clergy could become as good."

OUR POSITION.

We would by no means lift every burden from the student's back, or remove every obstacle out of his way; but merely spare him that labor and effort which weaken both mind and body.
